APPENDIX

A

Judicial Code, Section 237 (b), 28 U. S. C. A. Sec. 344 (b). Appellate jurisdiction of decrees of State courts; certiorari.

"(b) It shall be competent for the Supreme Court, by certiorari, to require that there be certified to it for review and determination, with the same power and authority and with like effect as if brought up by appeal, any cause wherein a final judgment or decree has been rendered or passed by the highest court of a State in which a decision could be had where is drawn in question the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States; or where is drawn in question the validity of a statute of any State on the ground of its being repugnant to the Constitution, treaties, or laws of the United States; or where any title, right, privilege, or immunity is specially set up or claimed by either party under the Constitution, or any treaty or statute of, or commission held or authority exercised under, the United States; and the power to review under this paragraph may be exercised as well where the Federal claim is sustained as where it is denied. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to limit or detract from the right to a review on appeal in a case where such a right is conferred by the preceding paragraph; nor shall the act that a review on appeal might be obtained under the preceding paragraph be an obstacle to granting a review on certiorari under this paragraph."
